Palermo is a very traditional neighbourhood in Buenos Aires which was recycled and transformed into one of the city's most chic places. You will find all types of restaurants and independent designer shops.

In this tour, we will visit a boutique wine shop called "Lo de Joaquín Alberdi". You'll be able to taste a good selection of Argentine wines and cheeses with a complete explanation of a sommelier and after that, you will have special advice if you will like to choose some wines for your own cellar.

Lunch is served across the street from the wine shop in a very nice restaurant called "Cabernet". The meal consists in three dishes and once again the wine expert will recommend special wines to match with the food.
